B) Provide gentle oral care as allowed and report the vomiting
C) Give an unapproved mouthwash to swallow
D) Brush forcefully while the resident lies flat

41.

Scenario

During a bed bath, a resident can wash the face, arms, and chest after supplies are arranged.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Set up the supplies and allow the resident to wash those areas
B) Complete the entire bath before offering the resident a washcloth or supplies
C) Remove the washcloth after the face to shorten the remainder of the bath
D) Ask a visitor to finish the upper-body care while the aide leaves the room 42.

Scenario

The nurse asks the aide for a resident's measured fluid intake, and the unit is noisy.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Point toward the written total and assume it can be read from across the room
B) State the exact amount and ask the nurse to repeat it back for confirmation
C) Give an approximate range from memory instead of the exact measured value
D) Wait until the next shift to report the result when the unit is quieter

43.

Scenario

A resident requests help changing a menstrual pad.

Which action is appropriate?

A) Discuss the request aloud in the hallway before gathering privacy supplies
B) Reuse the pad if it is not full and return it to the resident
C) Ask the roommate to provide the pad care while the aide prepares linens
D) Provide privacy, use gloves, cleanse as needed, and dispose of the pad properly 44.

Scenario

A staff member suggests asking for a sedating medication only so a restless resident will sleep through the shift.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Agree because a sleeping resident needs less supervision
B) Ask another resident whether sedation seems fair
C) Report the suggestion and continue using the resident's approved care approaches
D) Tell the family that the medication has already been ordered

45.

Scenario

A resident uses elastic shoelaces to put on shoes without tying knots.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Keep the elastic laces and allow the resident to use the learned method
B) Replace them with tightly knotted standard laces for a neater appearance
C) Tie the shoes completely before giving the resident a chance to participate
D) Remove the laces and provide loose slippers regardless of the resident's preference

46.

A) Remove it from service and provide an intact drinking glass
B) Turn the chipped side away from the resident's mouth during every sip
C) Cover the chip with adhesive tape and continue using the glass
D) File the rim smooth while the resident waits for the drink

47.

Scenario

A resident's walker basket is stacked so high with belongings that the resident cannot see the floor ahead.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Reduce or redistribute the items so the resident can see the route before walking
B) Begin walking slowly and leave the load in its current position
C) Ask the resident to lift the walker higher to see beneath the basket
D) Hang an extra bag from one side of the walker to balance the load

48.

Scenario

A meal tray arrives while the resident is away from the room for an appointment.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Leave the tray uncovered on the bed until the resident returns from the appointment
B) Notify dietary staff and follow directions for a safe replacement meal
C) Eat the meal personally so the tray and food are not wasted
D) Give the meal to the roommate and say the resident no longer needs it 49.

Scenario

A resident asks the nurse aide to leave a voicemail for a daughter that says only, "Please call me."

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Add details about the resident's health to make the call urgent
B) Leave the requested message without adding private health information
C) Ask the roommate to record the voicemail
D) Tell the daughter that the nurse will explain the diagnosis

50.

Scenario

Syrup has spilled on a resident's hands before the resident uses a walker to leave the dining room.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Cover the sticky hands with disposable gloves before the walker is used
B) Help wash and dry the hands before the resident grips the walker
C) Dust the hands with powder and wipe the excess on a towel
D) Ask the resident to wipe the syrup onto clothing before standing

51.

Before a resident steps onto a standing scale, what should the nurse aide check?

A) That the previous resident's weight remains on the display for comparison
B) That the resident is holding a full water pitcher while standing
C) That the scale is at zero and positioned on a stable surface
D) That the scale touches the wall at an angle so it cannot move

52.

Scenario

A bedside commode is assigned to a resident on contact precautions. Another resident asks to borrow it.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Move it directly to the second room without disinfecting or checking directions
B) Wipe only the seat with a dry towel between the two resident uses
C) Ask both residents to share it during the shift to reduce equipment needs
D) Keep it dedicated or process it according to the approved procedure

53.

Which action is appropriate during routine nasal hygiene?

A) Push a cotton swab high into each nostril
B) Pour soap into the nose to loosen material
C) Use a fingernail to remove dried secretions
D) Clean gently around the nostril openings without inserting objects

54.

Scenario

While helping a resident dress, the nurse aide notices a large new bruise on the upper arm.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Describe its location and appearance and report it promptly
B) Cover it with makeup and continue
C) Massage the bruise to improve circulation
D) Decide which staff member caused it

55.

Scenario

A resident hides food in a drawer and says, "I am afraid there will not be another meal."

What is the nurse aide's best response?

A) Scold the resident for wasting food and empty the drawer immediately
B) Remove the food without speaking, then lock the drawer for the shift
C) Promise that the resident can keep any food in the room
D) Listen, provide accurate reassurance, address unsafe food, and report the concern

56.

Scenario

A resident becomes confused when staff use sarcasm and figures of speech.

How should the nurse aide communicate?

A) Use more jokes to help the resident practice
B) Speak more quickly so the meaning is obvious
C) Use clear literal statements and check understanding
D) Ask the roommate to interpret every comment

57.

Scenario

A resident's personal hairbrush has accumulated hair and product residue.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Share the brush with the roommate before cleaning and return it afterward
B) Remove the hair and clean and dry the brush according to directions
C) Hide the brush so the resident cannot request it until the next bath
D) Soak it with dentures in a shared basin to save cleaning supplies

58.

Scenario

A family member brings a home exercise sheet and asks the nurse aide to begin the exercises immediately.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Give the sheet to the nurse or therapy team for review before using it
B) Begin each exercise immediately because the family brought written instructions
C) Add all the exercises to the resident's care plan independently before lunch
D) Ask another resident to demonstrate each exercise shown on the sheet

59.

Scenario

A resident says, "Since I stopped volunteering, I do not feel useful anymore."

What is the nurse aide's best response?

A) Listen and offer choices for meaningful safe participation
B) Say that older adults should rest instead of help
C) Assign the resident staff duties without approval
D) Tell the resident that the feeling is unimportant

60.

Scenario

A resident's preferred pajama top is missing a button and leaves the chest exposed.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Fasten the opening with a sharp safety pin against the skin
B) Require the resident to wear a facility gown
C) Cut a new buttonhole into the pajama top
D) Offer another chosen garment and arrange repair with the resident's permission 61.

Scenario

A wheelchair begins making a grinding sound and one wheel resists turning during transport.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Push harder and continue transport until the resistant wheel begins moving normally
B) Oil the wheel with cooking spray and immediately resume the resident's transport
C) Ask the resident to lean toward the damaged wheel
D) Stop safely, obtain safe replacement equipment, and report the problem

62.

Scenario

A care plan uses a bed cradle to keep linens from pressing on a resident's painful toes.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Place the cradle directly on the painful toes to hold them still
B) Remove the cradle when the resident sleeps because pressure will not be noticed
C) Put heavy objects on the linens over the feet to prevent movement
D) Position the cradle and linens as directed so pressure stays off the toes

63.

Scenario

The nurse aide finds cash inside a resident's clothing while sorting laundry.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Keep the cash because it was found in laundry
B) Secure it and report it through the facility's property procedure
C) Divide it among the care staff
D) Leave it in an unlocked public area

64.

Scenario

A resident can place personal calls independently using a large-button telephone.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Dial every personal number even when the resident asks to try
B) Keep the telephone at the nurses' station so staff can supervise each call
C) Limit calls to times selected by staff rather than by the resident
D) Place the telephone within reach and allow the resident to dial

65.

Scenario

A refrigerator used for resident snacks feels warm, and the temperature display is outside the facility's approved range.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Serve the food quickly before the refrigerator and food become warmer
B) Do not serve the food and report the refrigerator problem promptly
C) Add loose ice directly to every food container and stir it
D) Move the food into a resident's bedside drawer for the rest of the shift

66.

Scenario

A resident vomits dark material that resembles coffee grounds.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Give the resident a snack to settle the stomach
B) Keep the resident safe, observe the material, and summon the nurse immediately
C) Flush the material before anyone sees it
D) Ask the resident to walk to the bathroom alone

67.

Scenario

A family member says the resident will move to another facility tomorrow and asks the nurse aide to pack belongings, but the care team has given no transfer directions.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Pack everything and cancel routine care based only on the family statement
B) Tell the resident the move is canceled because it is not on the assignment sheet
C) Ask the family to write new orders and place them in the clinical record
D) Relay the information to the nurse and follow confirmed team directions

68.

Scenario

A resident's care information lists a latex allergy, and the available glove box is labeled natural rubber latex.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Use the gloves for only a few minutes
B) Double the latex gloves to reduce exposure
C) Obtain appropriate latex-free supplies before providing care
D) Ask the resident to wear the gloves instead

69.

Scenario

A resident with a known tendency to drool awakens with a wet pillowcase and damp skin at the corner of the mouth.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Replace the pillowcase and gently cleanse and dry the skin
B) Turn the pillow over and leave the wet side underneath
C) Apply powder directly into the resident's mouth
D) Leave the area damp until the next bath

70.

Scenario

The bathroom night-light in a resident's room burns out before bedtime.

What should the nurse aide do?

A) Provide safe lighting, clear the route, and report the failed light
B) Tell the resident to walk in darkness while holding the bathroom wall
C) Stand on the toilet alone to replace the bulb without assistance
D) Place a candle on the bathroom floor beside the walking route

1. Correct: C - Decline the arrangement and discuss the request with the supervisor

Holding a resident's house key and accepting paid personal work creates a dual relationship and boundary concern. The aide should decline and route the need through appropriate resources.

2. Correct: C - Respond calmly, offer support, and report the new behavior

A sudden change in emotional expression should be approached without judgment and reported objectively. The aide does not diagnose, ridicule, or ask peers to interpret it.

3. Correct: C - Follow the product and care directions, then dry and arrange the hair

A waterless shampoo cap is used exactly as directed for safe cleansing and comfort. It is not shared or left in place indefinitely.

4. Correct: D - Assist with the chosen necklace and check that it rests comfortably

Helping with a selected personal item supports grooming choice and dignity. The aide also checks that the necklace is not tight or irritating.

5. Correct: D - Protect the resident's privacy and decline to reveal the messages

Personal electronic messages are private. Staff curiosity does not authorize reading, photographing, or sharing them.

6. Correct: A - Listen, review the known safety plan, and relay any remaining concern

Listening and reviewing accurate plans can reduce anxiety without false guarantees. Continuing concerns can be shared with the team.

7. Correct: C - Use the requested name and title and communicate the preference to the team

Using the resident's requested form of address shows respect and supports consistent person-centered communication across the team.

8. Correct: B - Ask for a plain-language explanation and verify the current mobility directions

Unclear shorthand must be clarified before it guides care. Asking the team for the complete direction prevents guessing and unsafe mobility assistance.

9. Correct: D - Open the lid away from both people so steam can escape safely

Hot steam can burn the resident or aide. Directing the opening away from both people releases steam safely.

10. Correct: A - Clothing and decorations must not be hung from them

Sprinkler heads must remain unobstructed and undamaged so the fire-suppression system can function.

11. Correct: C - Acknowledge the fear and guide the resident around the visual trigger

Dementia can alter how patterns are perceived. A calm alternate route reduces distress without confrontation or ridicule.

12. Correct: C - Whether the resident's hands and skin are clear of the rail and hinges

Fingers or skin can be pinched when a rail moves. Checking the rail path before lowering prevents injury.

13. Correct: C - Help arrange reasonable privacy according to the resident's request

A resident may meet privately with a chosen legal visitor. The aide facilitates privacy without listening or requiring family participation.

14. Correct: D - Hold the tray and clarify the current directions with the nurse

Eating could affect the planned test, but the aide should not guess. Holding the tray briefly while confirming current instructions protects the resident and coordinates services.

15. Correct: D - Apply the approved water-soluble product as directed

The aide follows the oxygen-safety care direction and uses the approved water-soluble product rather than substituting petroleum or oil.

16. Correct: A - Remove the compromised box from use and obtain dry gloves

Water can contaminate or damage gloves and their packaging. A wet box should not remain in clean supply.

17. Correct: C - Reposition the cushion according to its markings before the resident sits Wheelchair cushions are designed for a specific orientation. Correct positioning is needed before weight is placed on the cushion.

18. Correct: D - Communicate the request and help follow the approved leave process

Residents may request community and family outings. The aide supports the choice through the facility's safe process without independently managing medications or departure.

19. Correct: A - Respect the refusal and provide care without the observers

The resident controls who observes personal care. Educational convenience does not override consent or privacy.

20. Correct: B - Stop safely and report the new pain to the nurse and therapist

New pain during transport should be communicated to the involved team members. The aide maintains safety and does not diagnose or exercise the painful area.

21. Correct: C - Ask the resident's preference and protect privacy if removal is needed

The resident defines the significance and handling of a religious garment. Privacy and individualized preference guide any necessary removal.

22. Correct: A - Delay the transfer and obtain a properly charged approved lift or battery

A low battery may fail during transfer. The lift must be ready for safe operation before the resident is moved.

23. Correct: C - Avoid manipulating the site and notify the nurse promptly

New swelling and coolness around an IV site require prompt licensed-nurse review. The aide should not massage, tighten, or adjust the infusion.

24. Correct: B - Obtain a replacement toothbrush according to procedure

Frayed bristles clean poorly and can irritate oral tissue. The aide replaces the personal item through the approved process rather than trimming or sharing it.

25. Correct: B - Keep the picture labels available and allow time for independent dressing

Familiar visual cues can support a retained dressing ability. The aide preserves the useful setup and gives the resident time rather than taking over.

26. Correct: A - Pause safely and replace or correct the shield according to procedure

The aide needs a clear view to provide safe care. A contaminated shield should not be pushed onto the head or wiped on clothing.

27. Correct: A - Follow the emergency plan and move residents to the designated protected area

During a tornado warning, the aide follows the facility plan and moves residents away from exterior glass to designated protection.

28. Correct: C - Refuse to create a false time record and follow reporting policy

Entering another worker's code is dishonest and falsifies employment documentation. The aide should refuse and use the proper reporting process.

29. Correct: D - Keep hands out, secure the area, and report the blockage through the proper channel

Reaching into a chute or climbing to force a bag can cause injury and exposure. The aide keeps others away and reports the blockage for safe correction.

30. Correct: D - Acknowledge the disappointment, listen, and offer help contacting family if the resident wishes

Acknowledging the resident's feelings and offering a choice of contact provides support without blaming the family, making promises, or forcing distraction.

31. Correct: B - Reposition the tubing without pulling and check that drainage is unobstructed

Trapped tubing can cause pressure or block drainage. The aide frees it gently while keeping the closed system intact.

32. Correct: B - Cover it with an appropriate barrier and wear gloves when indicated

Covering the aide's cut protects both resident and worker. Hand hygiene and indicated gloves are still required.

33. Correct: B - Pause, protect the face, adjust the head and water direction, and check comfort

Pausing and redirecting the water protects the eyes and respects comfort. Care should not continue while water runs across the resident's face.

34. Correct: C - Allow the directed rest interval before obtaining the routine measurement

Recent exertion can temporarily change respirations. Waiting the prescribed interval produces a more representative routine measurement.

35. Correct: B - Open the door and allow the resident to continue self-propelling

Helping only with the environmental barrier preserves the resident's independent wheelchair mobility.

36. Correct: A - Briefly explain the interruption and arrange to return or have someone follow up

An urgent call takes priority, but a brief respectful explanation preserves trust and ensures the resident's conversation is not simply abandoned.

37. Correct: A - On a stable surface with the cord secured out of the walking path

Stable placement and a secured cord reduce tipping, electrical, and tripping hazards. A fan should not sit near water or have blocked airflow.

38. Correct: C - Move the resident away, restrict access, and report the hazard immediately

A sagging wet ceiling tile can fall and create additional water or electrical hazards. The aide first moves the resident and keeps others away before reporting it.

39. Correct: B - Respect the resident's preference unless a specific safety or privacy need requires otherwise

The resident may control ordinary features of the living environment. Staff convenience alone is not a reason to override the preferred door position.

40. Correct: B - Provide gentle oral care as allowed and report the vomiting

Oral care restores comfort after vomiting, while reporting the event allows the nurse to evaluate the change. The resident should not be forced flat or given unapproved products.

41. Correct: A - Set up the supplies and allow the resident to wash those areas

Setup followed by resident performance preserves strength and self-care ability. The aide assists only with areas the resident cannot safely manage.

42. Correct: B - State the exact amount and ask the nurse to repeat it back for confirmation

Exact data and closed-loop confirmation reduce errors in a noisy environment. Estimates or delayed reporting weaken continuity.

43. Correct: D - Provide privacy, use gloves, cleanse as needed, and dispose of the pad properly

Menstrual care requires privacy, standard precautions, gentle hygiene, and proper disposal just like other personal care.

44. Correct: C - Report the suggestion and continue using the resident's approved care approaches

Medication should never be sought only for staff convenience or as an unnecessary restraint. The aide reports the concern and follows the current care plan.

45. Correct: A - Keep the elastic laces and allow the resident to use the learned method

An established adaptive method supports dressing independence. Replacing or removing the laces would create an unnecessary barrier.

46. Correct: A - Remove it from service and provide an intact drinking glass

A chipped rim can cut the resident and cannot be made safe with tape, turning, or informal filing. The aide replaces the damaged item.

47. Correct: A - Reduce or redistribute the items so the resident can see the route before walking

A blocked forward view increases collision and fall risk. The load should be safely reduced or rearranged before the resident walks.

48. Correct: B - Notify dietary staff and follow directions for a safe replacement meal

A tray should not sit unattended and lose safe temperature control. The aide coordinates a safe replacement rather than consuming or reallocating the resident's food.

49. Correct: B - Leave the requested message without adding private health information

The aide communicates only the resident's chosen message. Adding diagnoses or health details would disclose information without permission.

50. Correct: B - Help wash and dry the hands before the resident grips the walker

Clean dry hands support hygiene and a secure grip. Gloves, powder, or clothing do not safely remove sticky residue.

51. Correct: C - That the scale is at zero and positioned on a stable surface

A zeroed stable scale supports an accurate reading and safe standing. The aide should not use a tilted scale or include unrelated weight.

52. Correct: D - Keep it dedicated or process it according to the approved procedure

Resident-dedicated equipment under contact precautions should not move directly to another resident. Approved processing is required before reassignment.

53. Correct: D - Clean gently around the nostril openings without inserting objects

Routine hygiene is limited to the visible outer area. Inserting swabs, fingernails, or soap can injure nasal tissue.

54. Correct: A - Describe its location and appearance and report it promptly

A new unexplained bruise is an objective finding that should be reported. The aide does not conceal, massage, or assign blame.

55. Correct: D - Listen, provide accurate reassurance, address unsafe food, and report the concern

The resident's fear should be taken seriously without shaming. Unsafe stored food is handled appropriately, and the pattern is shared with the team.

56. Correct: C - Use clear literal statements and check understanding

Literal language reduces confusion for a resident who has difficulty interpreting sarcasm or figures of speech.

57. Correct: B - Remove the hair and clean and dry the brush according to directions

Personal grooming equipment should be cleaned, dried, and kept for its owner. Sharing or soaking it with unrelated items can spread contamination.

58. Correct: A - Give the sheet to the nurse or therapy team for review before using it

The aide should not add exercises independently. Nursing or therapy reviews the home instructions and incorporates approved changes into care.

59. Correct: A - Listen and offer choices for meaningful safe participation

Listening and offering appropriate purposeful roles support identity and self-worth without assigning staff work or dismissing the feeling.

60. Correct: D - Offer another chosen garment and arrange repair with the resident's permission

Another preferred garment protects dignity while the resident decides whether the damaged pajama should be repaired.

61. Correct: D - Stop safely, obtain safe replacement equipment, and report the problem

A resistant grinding wheel may fail or make transport unsafe. The aide stops rather than forcing, improvising lubrication, or shifting the resident's weight.

62. Correct: D - Position the cradle and linens as directed so pressure stays off the toes

A bed cradle supports linens above a sensitive area. It must be positioned according to the plan rather than resting on the toes.

63. Correct: B - Secure it and report it through the facility's property procedure

Found money remains the resident's property. Securing and reporting it protects the resident and creates accountability.

64. Correct: D - Place the telephone within reach and allow the resident to dial

Accessible equipment lets the resident use an existing communication ability without unnecessary staff control.

65. Correct: B - Do not serve the food and report the refrigerator problem promptly

Food held outside the approved temperature range may be unsafe. The aide stops service and reports the equipment problem rather than improvising storage.

66. Correct: B - Keep the resident safe, observe the material, and summon the nurse immediately

Dark coffee-ground-like vomit is an urgent abnormal observation. The aide preserves safety and reports immediately without giving food or discarding the evidence first.

67. Correct: D - Relay the information to the nurse and follow confirmed team directions

A family statement does not replace verified care-team directions. The aide relays the information and continues according to the confirmed plan.

68. Correct: C - Obtain appropriate latex-free supplies before providing care

Listed allergies must guide supply selection. Double-gloving or brief use does not make latex exposure safe.

69. Correct: A - Replace the pillowcase and gently cleanse and dry the skin

Replacing wet linen and cleaning and drying the skin restore comfort and reduce moisture irritation.

70. Correct: A - Provide safe lighting, clear the route, and report the failed light

Safe temporary lighting and a clear route reduce nighttime fall risk while the failed light is reported for repair.
